

HIGH-CLASS PERFUMES!

We have the exclusive sale of

"Allan's" High-Grade Perfumes

for this city. The perfumes made by "Allan," perfumer, are the highest grade goods in the world. They were awarded the grand prize at the World's Fair, St. Louis, 1904. This award was given by a jury of the leading chemists and perfumers of the world, and is the highest award ever given a perfumer.

These perfumes were designed for the drug trade, and have been carefully guarded, so that none others can get them.

"Allan's Janice" has been well-called the "Scent of Flowers." It is the ideal of the perfumer's art, and stands as the criterion of high-grade perfumery.

The young lady who demonstrated these perfumes at the World's Exposition will be at our store in a few days, and will be pleased to show these goods and give samples to the ladies calling.

AMUSEMENTS

Scene in "Sowing the Wind," Opera House Tonight.

"Sowing the Wind."

If Manager Al. S. Roth has searched through the choicest list of stage stories that are ever at the command of stars he could not have found a more congenial role to exploit Miss Suzanne Santje as a star or one that suits her dramatic capabilities better than Rosamond, the heroine of Sydney Grundy's famous play, "Sowing the Wind."

Miss Santje will be supported by Edward R. Mawson, and a very strong company of players and the production will be adequate in every way to give a proper representation of Sydney Grundy's play.

The story of "Sowing the Wind" is most intense. It deals with a great love, a love that knows no bounds, with a power that can hardly reckon its own strength, and one that is ready to sacrifice anything to its consummation.

It has a moral so strong and so eloquent that the usual incident and dialogue are lost sight of by the time the drama is over, but the moral remains fixed in every one's mind.

Manager Roth's company will present "Sowing the Wind" here to-night.

COOL WEATHER STILL PREVAILS

HEAVY FROST NOTICEABLE YESTERDAY, AND THERMOMETER DROPPED TO 32.

Cool weather still prevails in Pensacola, although during the past twenty-four hours there has been some moderation. Yesterday morning the official records show that the thermometer registered 32 degrees, one degree above that of the morning previous, which was the coldest of the season.

Warmer weather is predicted during the next few days, though it is expected that the weather will continue to be very cool. Weather Observer Reed, in his daily bulletin of conditions yesterday said:

"The weather over the country is still under the influence of high pressure, the conditions being about as they were on Tuesday morning. Temperature changes have been unimportant; the lowest temperature is 4 degrees above zero in central Wyoming. Light frost was observed this morning in Pensacola and a heavy deposit in Mobile. Light snow has fallen in the Lake Region, and rain in the North Pacific states, in southern Florida and in Texas; rain was falling at 7 a. m. on the Texas coast. Brisk northeasterly winds have continued over southern Florida, a depression in the barometer being noted toward Cuba.

"More cloudiness for this vicinity is indicated for tonight and Thursday, but no rain is expected. The winds will be light to fresh from the north-east and the temperature will rise slowly."

TWO MEN KILLED NEAR BIRMINGHAM

By Associated Press
Birmingham, Dec. 6.—Fourteen slag cars went through a trestle forty feet high on the Frisco railroad two miles north of Pratt City early today, resulting in the death of two men, Walter Howard and Arthur Howard, who were stealing a ride. R. E. Howard, the conductor of the train, had both arms broken and may not recover. Thomas Steele, a flagman, was seriously injured.

MANY POLISH FACTORIES ARE GOING TO THE WALL

By Associated Press
Warsaw, Russian Poland, Dec. 6.—Many of the smallest factories are going into bankruptcy because of their inability to meet the additional expenditures occasioned by the increase of wages which the strikers forced the owners to grant.

Eight hundred men employed at the government's central alcohol store have struck for additional pay. The post and telegraph authorities estimate that the government is losing $80,000 daily by the present strike, while the government loss from tickets alone during the recent railroad strike is estimated at $18,500,000.

A woman revolutionist, Olga Henkin, who, accompanied by a friend, went to Ivanovo, on the Moscow-Yaroslavl railway to deliver revolutionary speeches, was waylaid by workmen on her arrival at the station, and both she and her companion were killed.

YOUNG PEOPLE FROM LAUREL HILL WEDDED

A quiet wedding, which was attended by only a few intimate friends, occurred in this city yesterday morning, when Mr. Jas. W. Garrett and Miss Agnes Tucker, both of Laurel Hill, were married, the ceremony being performed at the boarding house of Mrs. Donaldson.

The young couple reached the city yesterday morning on the Florida train, and shortly afterwards secured a license and were made man and wife by Rev. W. T. Tracy. They departed in the afternoon for Laurel Hill.

CONDUCTORS GET TO WORK

MUCH BUSINESS WAS TRANSACTED YESTERDAY AT SESSION OF O. R. C. MEN.

The general adjustment committee of the Order of Railway Conductors, which convened here Monday morning, began active work yesterday morning, when the session convened in the parlors of the Merchants Hotel, Chairman Allen presiding.

The work of the day was the considering of conditions existing on the divisions of the Louisville and Nashville system, and the adjustment of the same for the coming two years.

The committee remained in session during the entire forenoon and in the afternoon another session was held. The proceedings of these meetings are, of course, secret, and no information as to what is transacted is given out for publication.

The members of the committee, to judge from their expressions, are delighted with the manner in which they have been treated by the local railroad men and the citizens.

Tom Hood's Test.

The following story is one which Tom Hood was rather fond of relating. He was once asked to contribute to a new journal, not exactly gratuitously, but at a small advance upon nothing. He accepted the terms conditionally—that is to say, provided the principle could be properly carried out.

Accordingly he wrote to his butcher, baker and other tradesmen, informing them that it was necessary for the sake of cheap literature and the interest of the reading public that they should in future furnish him with their several commodities at a trifling percentage above cost price.

It will be sufficient to quote the answer of the butcher:
"Sir—Respecting your note, cheap literature be blowed! Butchers must live as other peopel, and if so be you or the readin' public wants to have meat at prime cost you must buy your own beastness and kill yourselves. I remain, etc., JEM STOKES."
—London Standard.

A Cautious Statement.

More reserved in its wording than most epitaphs is one in a Derbyshire churchyard, which, after giving particulars of birth and death, concludes, "Twas said he was an honest man."

Unhappiness.

They who have never known prosperity can hardly be said to be unhappy. It is from the remembrance of joys we have lost that the arrows of affliction are pointed.—Emile Zola.

TWO KILLED AND SEVERAL INJURED

HEROIC TRAINMAN, WITH CRUSHED ARM, SENT IN FIRST NEWS OF ACCIDENT.

By Associated Press.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 6.—The Jersey Central flyer, east bound, was derailed at Stone Point last night, causing a disastrous wreck, the death of two men and the serious injury of several others.

The dead, are: Clarence Detro, Ashley, Pa., engineer, riding in a combination car on his way to work, and John Leibert, Mauch Chunk, fireman.

The seriously injured are: Phillip Reilly, baggage master; Calvin Swisher, Scranton, news boy; Thomas Snyder, Bethlehem, conductor; Engineer Willis, Mauch Chunk.

What caused the wreck can only be conjectured. As the train reached a sharp curve at Stone Point the engine left the tracks, bounded across the west-bound track and plunged down the embankment into the Lehigh river, dragging the combination car and the day coach with it.

The last car of the train, a Pullman, was partially pulled across the two tracks, but remained standing on the edge of the bank. As the train plunged down the bank the telegraph lines were torn down, cutting off all communication.

The first information of the wreck was brought to Penn Haven Junction an hour after the accident by one of the railroad employees and a passenger. A railroadman had an arm broken, but walked several miles to summon aid.

It is said that the wreck was caused by a broken flange on a wheel on the engine or that a rail became displaced and caused the derailment.

STANTON'S KIND HEART.

Two incidents That Show His Tenderness and Consideration.

Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war during and after the civil war, impressed many who came to him with appeals for aid as a stern and even heartless man. He was frequently contrasted with President Lincoln as his very opposite in mercy and gentleness. Yet incidents described to his latest biographer by men who knew him well show that he sometimes suffered as bitterly as those whose requests he felt compelled to refuse.

"I went to the war office after 10 o'clock one night to consult Mr. Stanton," says a former clerk. "I found the mother, wife and children of a soldier who had been condemned to be shot as a deserter on their knees before him, pleading for the life of their loved one. He listened, standing, in cold and austere silence. At the end of their heartrending sobs and prayers he answered briefly that the man must die. The crushed and despairing little family left, and Mr. Stanton turned, apparently unmoved, and walked into his private room.

"My own heart was wrung with anguish. It seemed to me that Mr. Stanton must be a demon, the very incarnation of cruelty and tyranny.

"I was so dazed that, forgetting myself, I followed him into his office without rapping. I found him leaning over a desk, his face buried in his hands and his heavy frame shaken with sobs.

"God help me to do my duty! God help me to do my duty!" he was repeating in a low wail of anguish that I shall never forget.

"I quickly withdrew, but not until I had seen a great light. I have loved, almost revered, Edwin M. Stanton ever since. His own heart was perhaps suffering more intense agony than the hearts of his petitioners, but he was compelled to steel his outward face for the bloody duties of war, while within his soul was warm with sympathy and sorrow."

One cannot help hoping that this deserter may have been one of those whose lives President Lincoln spared by overruling the decision of his secretary of war.

A more cheerful view of the great secretary is given by a fellow lawyer who knew him before the war.

"He was traveling by steamer on the Ohio to Pittsburgh when he saw a man on the forward deck with a broken leg."

"Why is that sufferer not attended to?" he demanded of the captain, who replied that the man lived in Pittsburgh, there nearly a hundred miles ahead, and would receive attention there.

"From a carpenter's chest Mr. Stanton promptly secured a saw and a hatchet with which to cut splints. Taking a sheet from a stateroom he set and bandaged the fracture. He then brought vinegar and water from the cook's room with which to steep the swollen parts and all the way to Pittsburgh sat by the side of the injured man, applying the bath. When the boat reached Pittsburgh he hired a carriage and took the man home."

Work and Talk.

Generally speaking, it is true of women as of men that those who think most say least. Woman's talkativeness is the result of her sedentary occupation. Tailors, shoemakers and weavers—all men who sit close at their work—have, in common with women, not only hypochondriacal fancies, but also a tendency to great talkativeness.—Richter.

The Word Cigar.

The word cigar occurs in a German dictionary for the first time in 1818 and in the Dictionnaire of the French Academie in 1835. Kant used the word "ziggaro" in 1798. In Spain at the present day the word "cigarro" means a cigarette, for which the Spaniards have the word "pitillos." Their name for a cigar is "un purd."
